VOL. XLII., No. 1.

NEW YORK, July 2, 1892.

WHOLE No. 1066.

D. APPLETON & CO.'S NEW BOOKS.

The Naturalist in La Plata.

By C. H. HUDSON, C.M.Z.S., joint author of "Argentine Ornithology." With 27 illustrations. 8vo, 388 pages, cloth, $4.00.

"Mr. Hudson is not only a clever naturalist, but he possesses the rare gift of interesting his readers in whatever attracts him, and of being dissatisfied with mere observation unless it enables him to philosophize as well. With his lucid accounts of bird, beast and insect, no one will fail to be delighted."—London Academy.

"... It would be easy to multiply extracts from this most interesting book. But it is one to buy and read, for matter and style are alike excellent."—London Spectator.

"December Roses."

By Mrs. CAMPBELL-PRAED, joint author of "The Right Honourable." No. 96, Town and Country Library. 12mo, paper, 50 cents; cloth, $1.00.

"'The Right Honourable' is an enjoyable and superior English novel. . . . Mrs. Campbell-Praed's labor in the way of romance and sentiment is admirably done."—Independent.

"Several of the personages in 'The Right Honourable' are worthy of Trollope at his best."—Literary World.

Appletons' Canadian Guide-Book.

PART II., WESTERN CANADA—I.E., FROM OTTAWA AND MONTREAL TO THE PACIFIC OCEAN. (A companion volume to Part I., Eastern Canada.) With numerous maps and illustrations. By ERNEST INGERSOLL. 12mo, flexible cloth, $1.25.

In view of the remarkably favorable reception given to Appletons' "Canadian Guide-Book, Part I., Eastern Canada," the publishers feel that tourists and readers will be interested in the announcement of a companion volume which will describe Western Canada in the same style. Mr. Ingersoll takes the traveller from Montreal into the regions north of Toronto, through the peninsular region of Canada, along the Great Lakes, up the Nipigon River, and then, emerging into the Northwest, he describes Manitoba, the valley of the Saskatchewan, and the Red River, picturing the life of the Indians and the old Hudson Bay posts, and finally, after the journey across the plains, he reaches the Canadian Rocky Mountains. The wonderful scenery of this district, perhaps the finest on the continent, is fully described. Under Mr. Ingersoll's guidance the tourist visits Banff, the Canadian National Park, and the wonderful glaciers and cañons of that region. After a series of vivid pictures of the mountain scenery, Mr. Ingersoll continues on into British Columbia, and closes his volume with descriptions of Westminster, Vancouver's Island, and a sketch of the routes to Alaska.

It is safe to say that no two volumes dealing with Canada present so much helpful and entertaining information in so convenient a form, as Appletons' Canadian Guide-Books. The Guide to Western Canada, like its predecessor, is elaborately illustrated, and contains the latest maps of all the districts described.

Appletons' Handbook of American Summer Resorts.

With Maps, Illustrations, Table of Railroad Fares, etc. New edition, revised to date. 12mo, paper, 50 cents.

D. APPLETON & CO., 1, 3 and 5 Bond Street, New York.

SOME SUMMMER SUGGESTIONS.

Told in the Gate.

NOTES IN SEASON.

"CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have just brought out "The Wrecker," Robert Louis Stevenson's new story, which has ended its most successful career as the leading serial of Scribner's. They have also published, under the title of "The Bull Calf, and other tales," a collection of A. B. Frost's mirth-provoking sketches, most of which have already appeared in the magazines.

CHARLES L. WEBSTER & Co. will soon issue a work by R. L. Garner, entitled "The Speech of Monkeys." This work embodies his researches up to the present time. It is divided into two parts, the first being a record of experiments with monkeys and other animals, and the second part a treatise on the theory of speech. The work is written so as to bring the subject within reach of the casual reader without impairing its scientific value.

GINN & Co. will publish at once "German and English Sounds," by C. H. Grandgent, Director of Modern Language Instruction in the Boston Public Schools. The volume will contain a detailed account of the sounds that occur in German and English speech, a description of the principal local variations in the pronunciation of both languages, and a series of diagrams showing the positions of the vocal organs during the formation of the vowels and the more difficult consonants.

THE AMERICAN SOCIETY FOR THE EXTENSION OF UNIVERSITY TEACHING, Philadelphia, has just issued five monographs on various phases of the university extension movement, being reprints from the proceedings of the Society. These are: "The Place of University Extension in American Education," by William T. Harris, U. S. Commissioner of Education; "The Organization and Function of Local Centres," by Michael E. Sadler, Secretary of the Oxford University Extension Delegacy; "The Church and University Extension," by Rev. John S. Macintosh; "The Ideal Syllabus," by Henry W. Rolfe; and "The University Extension Class," by Edward T. Devine.

S. C. GRIGGS & Co. will publish shortly a work treating of English history in an entirely novel manner, under the title of "England and Its Rulers," by H. Pomeroy Brewster and George H. Humphrey. They have also in press a work by Samuel Jefferson, entitled "Columbus, an epic poem," which purports to give an accurate history of the great discovery in rhymed heroic verse; and a "Phrase-Book of Eclectic Shorthand," by Professor J. G. Cross, M.A., which promises to be of great value to the shorthand student as well as to the practical reporter, as it contains over 8500 of the most frequently occurring and useful phrases, written in the briefest and most legible manner.

MACMILLAN & Co. announce the issue of a new and extensively revised edition of Mr. Bryce's "American Commonwealth." It is to be expected that this new edition will take notice of the many important changes which have occurred since the work was first issued. It is to be copyrighted in America. The same publishers have already issued more than half of Stephen's "Dictionary of Biography," one volume of which is published quarterly. Thirty out of a total of fifty volumes have appeared so far, and the enterprise is so well in hand that there will be no break in the publication of the remaining parts. The work when completed will contain at least thirty thousand articles by writers of acknowledged eminence in their several departments. The memoirs are the result of personal research, and much information has been obtained from sources that have not before been utilized. It has been the aim of the editors to omit nothing of importance and to supply full, accurate and concise biographies, excluding, of course, those of persons still living. They have recently issued a book entitled "Calmire," which in the form of a novel discusses some of the all-important problems of faith and social life. It is issued anonymously, and some readers may be held off by the great size of the book. This is, however, owing greatly to its wide margins and clear type. The publishers state that by actual count of words "Robert Elsmere" is half as long again as "Calmire." It is full of good matter, and booksellers ought to push it.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p. in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no prices, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); (Q. 4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tt. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. (48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

Andrews, C: McLean. The old English manor: a study in English economic history. Balt., Md., The Johns Hopkins Press, 1892. c. 8+291 p. O. (Johns Hopkins univ. studies, extra, v. 12.) cl., $1.50.

An attempt to reconstruct the village and manorial organization and life in England at the beginning of the eleventh century. The study is based largely on the well-known documents Rectitudines Singularum Personarum and Gerefa, the latter of which has never before been used for historical purposes. In addition, all Anglo-Saxon literature has been put under contribution, that the study might be as complete as possible. Such reconstruction has more than a merely antiquarian interest, for it relates to an important period of English economic history. It shows the complete isolation of local life, the pre-eminence of agriculture and the secondary importance of craft and artisan work.

Austen, Jane. Mansfield Park. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1892. c. 2 v., 2-308; 4-310 p. il. S. hf. cl., $2.50. Édition de luxe, 2 v., 8°, $4. [Edition limited to 250 copies.]

The fluctuating fortune of John Greystone, a social pariah as a boy, in young manhood as a millionaire, and after marriage with a Southern girl of high social caste as a ruined man, is the basis of a novel which views several conditions of life.

Booth, Mrs. Otto, ["Rita," pseud.] The man in possession. N. Y., Hovendon Co., [1892.] c. '91. 2-323 p. D. cl., $1; pap., 50 c.

A belated train is responsible for an interchange of words between Kate O'Brien and Tom Rivers. The sudden arrival of the girl's father, however, brings his conversation to an abrupt close, and Kate prepares to go home after hearing that her father is a delinquent taxpayer, and that until he makes good his deficiencies the bailiff will take possession of his house. In due time Fletcher arrives and proves himself quite a model bailiff. He is compelled, however, to send a substitute because of the sickness of his daughter. This substitute's methods involve some humorous incidents and a love-story.

Presents to pupils unfamiliar with Latin a brief outline of philosophy, thoroughly in conformance with the philosophical standpoint of the Roman Catholic Church. Intended for class use in academies and similar institutions, and for use where the Stoneyhurst series of English manuals of Catholic philosophy is too voluminous.

Crawford, F. Marion. Saracinesca. New cheaper ed. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1892. 450 p. 12°, cl., $1.

Deene, Harley. Cortlandt Laster, capitalist. Chic., Laird & Lee, 1892. c. 3-326 p. D. pap., 50 c.

Cortlandt Laster, a mature married man and American of wealth, sojourning in Paris, is enamored of Zelia Van Cleet, a beautiful Southern girl. He finally makes it worth Mrs. Van Cleet's while to remove with her daughter to New York. This step results in a social scandal which involves the millionaire and Zelia. The former, to extricate himself, concocts a scheme in which are seen not only his dastardly act, but some well-known weakness and vices of modern society, a just retribution and a tragedy. The story opens in a fashionable New York gambling house.

Drey, Sylvan. Lights and shadows of the soul: a collection of sketches and stories. Balt., Md., Cushing & Co., 1892. 6+91 p. S. cl., 60 c.

These stories are allegorical, and appeared originally in different magazines and periodicals. Since their first issue they have been revised for the present edition. They are called: The drooping rosebud; The broken-hearted violinist; Why, indeed? Ross' celebrated statue of a perfect woman; The poet and the angel; Two portraits of a beautiful girl; A recollection; A great lunar revelation; Two love scenes; Stray leaves from a philosopher's autobiography; Moonlight musings.

Eliot, C. W., and Storer, F. H. Compendious manual of qualitative chemical analysis, as revised by W. R. Nichols. 16th ed., newly rev. by W. B. Lindsay. N. Y., D. Van Nostrand Co., 1892. 204 p. 12°, cl., $1.50.

Fawcett, Edgar. An heir to millions. Chic., F. J. Schulte & Co., [1892.] c. 3-307 p. D. (Ariel lib., no. 19.) cl., $1.25; pap., 50 c.

Anthony Bainbridge, the eldest scion of a New York house, is threatened with disinheritance if he does not immediately resign the friendship of a certain Southmayd, socialist. Before Bainbridge, senior, has time to execute this threat he dies, leaving Anthony an inheritance of millions. In Anthony's and Southmayd's subsequent action are seen the attitude of a capitalist, plans for social reform, two romances and his final conclusion of a social problem.

Fletcher, W. Meade. An abstract of Adam's equity. [Charlottesville, Va.,] Anderson Bros., Univ. of Va., 1892. c. 244 p. (printed on one side of leaf only,) O. pap., $1.75.

Guthrie, F. Anstey, ["F. Anstey."] The talking horse. N. Y., United States Book Co., [1892.] c. '91. 298 p. D. cl., $1; pap., 50 c.

Gustavus Pulvertoft's desire to excel in equestrianism, and thus please Miss Diana Chetwynd, leads him to mount on a trial an animal procured of a neighboring jobmaster. His recital of what followed involves a question of sanity and a spirited dialogue which Mr. Pulvertoft avers took place between himself and Brutus, the horse, in which the latter has decidedly the advantage so far as wit is concerned. This initial story, which is both humorous and pathetic, is followed by The good little girl; A matter of taste; Don, the story of a greedy dog; Taken by surprise; Paleface and redskin; Shut out; Tommy's hero; A canine Ishmael; Marjory.

Hall, Gertrude. Far from to-day. Bost. Roberts Bros., 1892. c. 4-291 p. S. cl., $1.

The first of six short stories is entitled Tristiane, because it tells of that heroine's part in removing a king's ban, and restoring Magnus Magnussun his earthly goods. Five others are called Sylvanus; The sons of Philemon; Theodolind; Servirol; Shepherds.

Hanson, J. W., D.D. A pocket cyclopædia: brief explanations of religious terms as understood by Universalists. Bost., Universalist Pub. House, 1892. c. 2-89 p. sq. S. cl., net, 25 c.

A handy manual of information on different points of Christian theology, especially as it applies to Universalism; brief statements indicative of the theories and doctrines of the Universalist religion are given, and references are made under varied headings to fuller sources of information.

Hopkins, A. K. A daughter of the Druids. Bost., [Dammell & Upham,] 1892. c. 4-297 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

The heroine, Alice de Kymber, inherited, along with the traditional beliefs of her Druid ancestry, a love of astronomy. Her experiments in that science lead her to be suspected of witchcraft, and finally to flee England. The story gives the details of her flight and of the romantic episode between a scientific man and a visionary woman.

Hosken, Ja. Dryden. Phaon and Sappho and Nimrod. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1892. 12+326 p. 16°, cl., $1.50.

Howell, Jeanne M. A common mistake. St. Paul, Minn., The Price-McGill Co., 1892. c. 3-290 p. D. (The golden lib., no. 3.) pap., 50 c.

A story of New York society life, in which a beautiful, rich and capricious girl makes the "common mistake" of expecting constancy of affection from her suitors. She passes through many phases of emotion, and her intense desire for admiration and homage frequently places her in questionable situations. Her engagement to a Polish count, whom she loves intensely, results in an unforeseen revelation, and the tragical conclusion of a story which aims to show the corrupt morals of society.

Illinois. Supreme and appellate courts. A digest of the decisions, by J. Kendrick Kinney. In 3 v. V. 1, [aba-ext.] Chic., Callaghan & Co., 1892. c. 1194 p. O. shp., $19.50 (for complete work.)

Jeffery, Oscar. Precedents and notes of practice in civil cases in the higher courts of law of the state of New Jersey, with references to statutes and decisions in matters of practice, [etc.] Newark, New Jersey Law Journal Pub. Co., 1892. c. 9+978 p. O. shp., $9.

Kelley, H. S. A treatise on criminal law and practice: comprising generally the statutes of Mo., defining criminal offences; and, in connection therewith, forms and precedents for indictments, adapted to nearly all the crimes known to the laws of Mo., [etc.] 2d ed., thoroughly rev. and enl. Columbia, Mo., E. W. Stephens, 1892. c. 16+865 p. O. shp., $7.50.

Kipling, Rudyard, and Balestier, Wolcott. The naulahka: a story of west and east. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1892. c. '91, '92. 5+379 p. D. cl., $1 50.

"The naulahka" is a superb necklace of precious stones that Nick Tarvin, of Topaz, Colorado, knows exists in India. He promises to obtain it for Mrs. Mutrie, the wife of the President of the C. C. & C. Road, if she induces her husband to have the road come to Topaz. The necklace is not the only attraction India has for Tarvin. Kate Sheriff, a girl from Topaz whom he loves dearly, has gone there as a missionary. From the rough west of America the scene changes to India, and a graphic picture is presented of life in an Indian Residency, with Kate Sheriff penetrating through her missionary work the guilty secrets of the harem, and Nick Tarvin searching for his necklace, saving a little Indian prince from being poisoned and escaping several desperate attempts upon his own life. The book has rhymed headings to the chapters.

Langdale, C. The mistress of a king; or, the memoirs of Lady Fitzherbert; with an account of her marriage with H. R. H. the Prince of Wales, afterwards King George the Fourth. Phil., The Carter Pub. Co., 1892. 189 p. D. (Portrait ser., no. 3.) pap., 25 c.

Lean, Mrs. Francis, [formerly Florence Marryat.] A fatal silence. N. Y., Hovendon Co., [1892.] c. '91. 2-355 p. D. cl., $1; pap., 50 c.

Paula Bjornstern resolved to bury her past when she called herself Miss Safford, and became a teacher in the village school in Deepdale. Her plan was a success, until an unexpected meeting with an old friend caused a misconception to be put upon her actions, and she was called before a parish committee, where she accepted a dismissal rather than reveal her history. Hal Rushton, a young farmer, had previously proposed marriage, and Paula accepted. After their marriage a second concealment leads to interesting developments.

Love, A. E. H. Treatise on the mathematical theory of elasticity. V. 1. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1892. 16+354 p. 8°, cl., $3.

Lynch, Hannah. Daughters of men. N. Y., United States Book Co., [1892.] c. 380 p. D. cl., $1.25.

The gradual development of an unsophisticated boy into a hardened man of the world is a means of presenting animated descriptions of Athenian society and characteristics of modern Greek life. The action passes wholly in Athens and the isle of Tenos. The hero, an impressionable youth, becomes infatuated with a coarse and vulgar woman, who has attained great fame as a musician. He also falls in love with a pretty silly little Greek girl and with a beautiful maiden brought up in primitive simplicity on the isle of Tenos, who has a love-story of her own. Unpleasant complications result.

Under the heading, "The praise of God as declared in the book of nature," there are four sermons, entitled The glory of the Lord; The omnipotence of the Lord; The riches and wisdom of the Lord; The holiness of the Lord. These were read at sea in 1890. The series for 1891 includes under the heading "Christ our Lord, thee even the sea obeys," five sermons which have the individual titles of Sabbath at sea; On the high seas; Signalling at sea; The great turning-point; The happy homeward voyage.
- Roberts, Morley. The mate of the Vancouver. N. Y., Cassell Pub. Co., [1892.] c. 3+263 p. D. (Cassell's sunshine ser., no. 120.) cl., 75 c.; pap., 50 c.
Tom Ticehurst, mate on the Vancouver, incited the anger of his brother, in command of that vessel, and further complicated his affairs in a scene with his brother's wife, by a misunderstanding with the girl he loved, and by incurring the revenge of an Oriental. After suffering some of the consequences of these misfortunes he leaves the ship, and is the hero of adventures of both love and hate. The scenes are varied. The greater part of the action occurs in Australia.
- Roth, Otto, M.D. Modern materia medica; with therapeutic notes, for the use of practitioners and students in medicine; rev. by Dr. Gregor Schmitt. N. Y., W Wood & Co., 1892. 461 p. 8°, cl., $2.
- Rozanet, Octave. The confessions of a beauty; [from the French.] Phil., The Carter Pub. Co., 1892. c. 173 p. D. (Portrait ser., no. 2.) pap., 25 c.
On the reminiscences, social experiences, incarceration in a convent, and the last tragic scene in the life of a capricious French society girl, is founded a novel of sensational interest.
- School history of the United States; abridged and compiled from the most reliable sources. N. Y., Benziger Bros., 1892. il. 12°, cl., 75 c.

Skene, Alex. J. C., M.D. Treatise on the diseases of women; for the use of students and practitioners. New ed., rev. and enl. N. Y., Appleton, 1892. 968 p. il. 8°, cl., subs., $6.

Snow, Alvin L. Songs of the White Mountains, and other poems. Creston, Ia., The Creston Gazette Pub. House, 1892. c. 6+113 p. O. cl., $1.25.

The majority of these verses treat of the grandeur of mountain scenes and other wonders of nature, although there are a few pathetic poems and several national odes included in the collection.

Spender, Mrs. J. Kent. Zina's awakening: a novel; il. by Warren B. Davis. N. Y., Rob. Bonner's Sons, [1892.] c. 328 p. D. (Choice ser., no 63.) cl., $1; pap., 50 c.

After a very hasty marriage abroad and a short interim of ideal happiness, Zina Layton returned with her husband to their English home. They were barely settled when Zina was confronted with a questionable incident in the life of George, and there follows a rather cruel awakening, which threatens the happiness of more than one concerned in the story.

Swift, Jonathan. Selections from his works; ed., with life, introductions and notes, by H. Craik. In 2 v., v. 1. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1892. 8+476 p. 12°, cl., $1.90.

Swinburne, Algernon C. Locrine: a tragedy. N. Y., United States Book Co., 1892. 5+138 p. D. cl., $1.25.

Swinburne, Algernon C. The sisters: a tragedy. N. Y., United States Book Co., [1892.] c. 3-126 p. D. cl., $1.25.

The dialogue is blank verse, and tells of the love of Anne and Mabel Dilston, twin sisters, for Reginald Clavering, a brave soldier, but a timid wooer. The subject of his love, however, returns his sentiments and reveals her own in an effective scene, which makes the lovers divinely happy, and Anne correspondingly miserable. The trio are to take part in a play, written by Reggie. Anne's part in this is responsible for an idea, which ends in prompt and tragic action.

Texas. Supreme court. Reports; during the latter part of the Tyler term, 1891, and the first part of the Galveston term, 1892; rep. by A. S. Walker, sr. V. 82. [Galveston, Clarke & Courts, prs.,] 1892. c. 19+753 p. O. shp., $5.

Thorne, H. W. Instructor in practical court reporting. Johnstown, N. Y., H. W. Thorne, [Kombinashun Supli Ko., Lock box 70,] 1892. c. 237 p. D. (imit. mor.) $2.

Trevert, E. Electric railway engineering. Lynn, Mass., Bubier Pub. Co., 1892. c. 4-186 p. il. O. cl., $2.

Embraces practical hints on the power-house and its apparatus, dynamo-motor and line construction; describes car wiring, the trolley apparatus, treats of traction roads and other relative matter; includes general remarks on motor-men, a history of the electric railway, methods of electrically controlling street cars, and considers the electric street railway as an investment. The work is designed for students, and indexed.

Trumbull, H. Clay. The knightly soldier: a biography of Major Henry Ward Camp. New rev. ed. Phil., J. D. Wattles, 1892. c. '65, 92. 16+323+6 p. por. D. cl., $1.50.

Tuttle, Hudson. Life in two spheres. Phil., The Carter Pub. Co., 1892. c. 242 p. D. (Independent ser., no. 1.) cl., $1; pap., 50 c.

Hero and Leon, two mortals happily united in wedlock on earth according to their individual belief, again come into unison after death. A sage in the realm to which they are transported undertakes to make them acquainted with the conditions of their new life, to show them some of the failings of those who are of the earth sphere, and finally brings them into contact with the people of the sphere of light. A novel which is a means of ventilating religious beliefs which incline to the spiritualistic.

Walker, Sydney F. How to light a colliery by electricity. Reprinted from the transactions of Brit. Soc. Min. Students. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1892. 36 p. 4°, cl., 75 c.

Weed, Alonzo R. Business law; a manual for schools and colleges and for every-day use. Rev. ed. Bost., D. C. Heath & Co., 1892. c. 172 p. O. cl., $1.

Wigston, W. F. C. The Columbus of literature; or, Bacon's new world of sciences. Chic., F. J. Schulte & Co., [1892.] 5-217 p. il. O. cl., $2.

An effort to establish the Baconian theory of the authorship of the Shakespearian plays by deducing the evidence which the author claims is present in a greater or less degree in these plays. In his analytical treatment of the subject, and by arrangement of chapters, the author strives to prove Rosicrucian affinities; in brief, to deal with a difficult problem of literature.

Wilson, Marian Calvert. Manuelita: the story of San Xavier Del Bac. N. Y., United States Book Co., [1892.] c. '91. 3-305 p. il. D. cl., $1.25.

In this story of the old Californian mission of San Xavier Del Bac, the famous Father Kino, the first Jesuit missionary in Sonora, is an important figure. Much of the story is historical, and taken from the early records of the Spanish explorers. Manuelita is a little Indian girl adopted by Padre Kino on his historic visit to the Moqui towns of Arizona. Her betrothal to Captain Balthazar Carillo affords an opportunity for self-sacrifice on the part of a young priest, and her marriage results in a life of self-devotion and the final completion of the San Xavier church.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

JULY 2, 1892.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or our advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, must reach us by Tuesday morning of each week.

In case of business changes, notification or card should be immediately sent to this office for entry under "Business Notes." New catalogues issued will also be mentioned when forwarded.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the WEEKLY solely for their information. The next important reason is that the Record of New Publications of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY forms the basis of "The American Catalogue" and so the basis of all trade bibliography in the United States.

"Every man is a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help thereunto."—LORD BACON.

ON THE IMPORTANCE OF FRESH STOCK.

WE have from time to time pointed out that much of the bad business, bad luck (as some will call it) and other evils, especially of country booksellers, may be traced directly to their own inertia and want of push and energy. Many of them persistently lose sight of the fact that keeping stock, whether of books, stationery or novelties, up to date and fresh is as important to a business commercially and financially as having a strong backbone is to a man who would be strong and healthy.

Such as we have in our mind's eye appear to be supremely indifferent to the nature and age of their stock, and persist in having the same goods on show month after month. The only sign in their windows of the change of seasons is the appearance of a few cards, half of them perhaps of previous years' designs. The rest of their windows is filled up with cobwebby and dusty quires of antediluvian note-paper; odd bunches of the old familiar red-handled penholders; pieces of half-melted sealing-wax twisted into odd Dantesque shapes; a ball or two of red and pink twine; a damaged porcelain figure and a rusted Jew's sharp (to maintain the claim of a dealer in objects of art and musical instruments); and a baker's dozen of books—all back numbers. The result of such shop-keeping is that the number of old customers gradually diminishes, the majority of them preferring to patronize more enterprising rivals or to send their orders out of town. Another result, too, of quite as frequent occurrence, and one which usually lands the experimenter into the clutches of the sheriff, is that the half-stranded and wholly fossilized dealer takes another store in the town, and runs it on precisely the same lines, apparently in the delusive hope that two blacks may make a white. It is not necessary to point out that such a course invariably only increases the former loss by about one hundred per cent., and hastens the down-grade progress of the heedless, or, shall we say, brainless dealer.

To all such, and to those who follow after them, we offer the advice: Clear out all your old stock, even if it be at "an enormous sacrifice," and replace it by up-to-date stock and novelties—not necessarily a large stock of them, but one selected with care and discrimination. And when the representatives of publishing and other houses call on you—and call they will—don't bawl out from the further end of your store "Nothing in your line to-day," but look over what they have to show you; and if you find anything new that will suit your trade make a selection if it be ever so small; go slowly enough at all times not to overstock or to load up with what you will never need. Know yourself what you want and don't let others prescribe for you. Above everything, don't follow "Mrs. Toodles'" example.

A couple of dollars judiciously invested especially in the latest novelties will freshen up and enliven a whole shopful of semi-moribund lines—not that we would for a moment advise the retention of the latter if they can in any way be speedily got rid of. There is a close affinity—in a metaphorical sense—between old stocks and weak backs. To get a new outfit is to put in a new backbone. Surgically, this cannot be done; commercially, it is a possibility.

WE are pleased to note that the London Booksellers' Society has acted upon the recommendation to hold examinations for the purpose of testing the qualifications of booksellers' assistants, not only of London but of all parts of England. The examinations will be of two kinds, viz.: The Preliminary, for those under twenty years of age; and the Advanced, for those over that age. The examinations will be based upon the following subjects: (1) Authors and their works; (2) The published price of books; (3) The best works on stated subjects; (4) The writing of business orders and calculations of prices. Money prizes and certificates of merit will be given. This is a most important move and one that deserves success and emulation. The training of booksellers' apprentices and assistants has been left too long to chance in this country and in England, and the evils of such a hit-or-miss system are beginning to make themselves felt, especially in the smaller towns.

Germany supports two schools for booksellers—institutions which, with a modified course, might be made as useful to the book trade of this country as the Library School at Albany, N. Y., has become to the libraries. We hold that the influence of such a trade school would prove even more beneficial to the community at large than a library school, as the bookseller's position, if he be properly qualified for his work, is decidedly of greater influence. The bookseller, having to do with books that are bought to be always the companions of the buyer, is in a position to direct the education of the masses in a greater degree than the librarian who, in a majority of cases, has simply to supply the book that is drawn from its repository for a few days or weeks. To repeat what was said in a discussion on this subject some time ago: "A thoroughly educated book trade, competent to influence readers, and thence writers, would be one of the greatest blessings that could be vouchsafed to America, its education, its culture and its literature!" Who will make a beginning towards this consummation?

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

THOMAS HARDY is writing a new novel, called "The Pursuit of the Well Beloved."

PROF. HELMHOLTZ has been elected a foreign associate of the Académie des Sciences, in the place of the late Emperor of Brazil.

PROFESSOR A. S. HARDY is about to take up his residence at West Point, where he will doubtless again set at work his too-long idle pen.

CHARLEMAGNE TOWER, JR., of Philadelphia, has undertaken a work on Lafayette in the American Revolution. He is seeking for unpublished letters pertaining to the subject.

MISS CONSTANCE FENIMORE WOOLSON has prepared for the August Harper's Magazine a paper on a subject not yet hackneyed—"Corfu and the Ionian Sea." It is to be charmingly illustrated.

MR. HENRY E. KREHBIEL has prepared a chapter on American music for the book on famous composers which Professor Paine, of Harvard, is editing, and which is rapidly approaching completion.

No American author, with the possible exception of Bret Harte, enjoys greater popularity in Germany than Mark Twain. A complete edition of his works, translated into German, is to be brought out in a short time by a well-known publisher in Stuttgart.

THE centenary of the birth of the poet Shelley on Aug. 4 will be celebrated in various ways in London, and also at Field Palace, near Horsham, England, where he was born. It will be curious to discover whether Oxford, from whose cloisters the poet was expelled in 1811, will do anything in memory of one of the most distinguished of her sons.

OBITUARY.

GEORGE RHETT CATHCART.

GEORGE RHETT CATHCART, the well-known Managing Director of the Agency Business of the American Book Company, and also one of the Board of Directors of this great concern, died at Newport, R. I., on Monday, June 27, after a long illness from an affection of the heart. Mr. Cathcart was born about forty-nine years ago in South Carolina, where he graduated from college at seventeen. His father died when Mr. Cathcart was very young, and he was placed under the guardianship of Charles G. Memminger, afterward Secretary of the Treasury of the Confederate Cabinet. At the beginning of the civil war Mr. Cathcart served for a short time on General Longstreet's staff, but not being entirely in accord with the Southern cause, he resigned and went to England, where he remained during the larger part of the war, engaged in literary and legal studies, having been entered at the Middle Temple. After his return to his native land, in 1865, Mr. Cathcart was connected for some time with the Charleston Daily News. Later he came to New York and for a few years was engaged in journalistic work on the New York Times and various other papers. At this time he founded and published the Publisher and Bookseller, a trade and literary review. In 1870 he entered the employment of Ivison, Blakeman, Taylor & Co. He continued with this firm through its various changes, having become a partner after a few years. In 1874 he compiled Cathcart's Literary Reader, which was published by the firm, and the copyright of which was afterwards contributed to its capital by Mr. Cathcart.

Mr. Cathcart was prominent in the organization of the American Book Company. A full account of the aim and object of this association was given in his own words in the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY of April 26, 1890. Mr. Cathcart was a man of great executive ability and was connected with many important organizations and clubs of this city. He was for some years President of the Twenty-first Assembly District Republican Organization, but was not ambitious for office. He was a member of the Commission for Municipal Consolidation Inquiry, and of the Union League, Manhattan Athletic, New York Athletic, and Aldine Clubs. In 1866 he married a daughter of Prof. James J. Mapes, of this city. The widow and one child, a daughter, survive him. The funeral will be private.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

QUEEN VICTORIA has a book which is eighteen inches thick and weighs sixty-three pounds. It contains the jubilee speeches and addresses.

DODD, MEAD & Co. will bring out a library edition of several of Anthony Trollope's novels. They will be issued with illustrations.

MARION HARLAND's book called "The Story of Mary Washington" will not be ready before next winter. Houghton, Mifflin & Co. will bring it out.

"A HISTORY of Peru," by Clements R. Markham, will introduce the series on the Latin-American Republics projected by Charles H. Sergel & Co.

A WORK on novel lines, for schools and for the general reader, is "England and Its Rulers," by H. Pomeroy Brewster and Geo. H. Humphrey, shortly to be issued by S. C. Griggs & Co., Chicago, who also announce "Columbus: an epic poem," by Samuel Jefferson, which purports to give an accurate history of the great discovery in rhymed, heroic verse, and "A Phrase-Book of Eclectic Shorthand," by J. G. Cross.

At a recent meeting of the Johnson Club at Oxford, A. W. Hutton read a paper on the lexicographer's library, based on the original sale catalogue as printed a hundred years ago, a copy of it having come to light in a London shop a short time ago. Of this interesting catalogue a hundred and fifty copies have been privately printed by one of the members of the club for distribution among Johnsonians.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT Co. will publish shortly in their series of Select Novels a delightful story of domestic life in an English country family, entitled "A Daughter's Heart," by Mrs. H. Lovett Cameron. They will also issue at once an instructive little volume by Bishop A. W. Thorold, entitled "Questions of Faith and Duty." One of the most popular novels ever published in this country is "The Wide, Wide World," which has run through many editions. J. B. Lippincott Company have just issued the story in an entirely new and cheaper form, printed from new plates, and illustrated by eight full-page pictures and thirty illustrations in the text, from drawings by Frederick Dielman. The artist has made no attempt to modernize the personages, and he has well preserved the characteristics of the period to which the story belongs. The new edition of "Chambers' Encyclopædia," published by the J. B. Lippincott Co., is rapidly nearing completion, and with the advent of one more volume this standard reference-book will be at the command of all who are desirous of procuring one of the most accurate, convenient and useful encyclopædias now in the American market. The ninth volume has just been issued. Among the more important American articles are found San Francisco, St. Louis, St. Paul, Scandinavian Mythology, Sir Walter Scott, Sewage, Sewing-Machine, Shakers, Shakespeare, Shelley, Phil Sheridan, Sherman, Ship-Building, Silk, Silver, Slang, Soda, South Carolina, Spain, Sugar, Spiritualism, etc. These are all copyrighted, as are also the articles by American authors in all the volumes issued. The maps of this number include Russia, Scotland, South Australia, Spain and South Carolina, prepared according to the latest geographical surveys. The illustrations are among the best ever issued in a work of this character. The volumes contain on an average nearly a thousand pages each. Volume X. will be issued in the fall, and will complete a fine edition of a noble work of reference.

BUSINESS NOTES.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.—S. M. Williams, 25 Fourth Street, S., has moved into larger and better located quarters at 509 Nicollet Ave.

PORTLAND, ORE.—Wiley B. Allen, wholesale and retail bookseller and stationer, has sold out.

TROY, N. Y.—The firm of Briggs & Co. was dissolved June 28 by mutual consent. Edward L. Ertzberger withdraws from the firm. The business of Troy's Old Book Store will be conducted by J. M. Briggs.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers only are entitled to a free insertion of five lines for books out of print, exclusive of address (in any issue except special numbers), to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Books for Exchange," the charge is 10 cents per line. No deduction for standing matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office must either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers as a guarantee of good faith.

Houses that are willing to deal only on a cash-on-delivery basis, will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

"The greatest novel, in many respects, that has appeared within the present decade."

CALMIRE.

12mo, cloth, $1.50.

"A singularly engaging presentation of an agnostic's picture of human life. . . . Not done with an Ingersoll's assumption that rhetoric and plenty of cordial sneering can remove mountains, it is backed by weight and guided with an admirable show of fairness and liberality. . . . A book far and away superior to 'Robert Elsmere,' 'David Grieve,' or 'John Ward, Preacher,' in point of argument, directness of vision in handling questions of human conduct, and in force of bold projection and apt and distinct illustration. Moreover, as a mere love-story, this novel has that charm of blended romance and realism, that captivating verisimilitude and that nameless power to haunt one with its shame-tinged sorrow and happiness which testify unmistakably of genius."

These somewhat startling opinions from a three-column review in the INDEPENDENT are not without support.

Although the N. Y. TRIBUNE says: "To include the elaborate explanation of an entire cosmic hypothesis is too much for anything short of genius to attempt," and that "the book is a mistake from the point of view of art." It also says: "We have not found it at all dull in spite of its didacticism. . . . The author writes with much force and skill. The style is good and the exposition lucid. . . . So far as the book deals with human nature its analysis is strikingly keen. The studies of Calmire, of Muriel, of Nina, and of Minerva are careful, vigorous, true to nature, and often brilliant. . . . We fear it is too much to expect that 'Calmire' will become popular; yet to the few who would be likely to appreciate its many really good points, it may be hinted that the time expended upon its perusal will not be wasted, its length to the contrary notwithstanding."

About the "length" the critics are generally misled by the number of pages. But the type is large and the page open, and by actual count, "Robert Elsmere" is half as long again.

The PHILADELPHIA BULLETIN says: "Of the ability of the work, of its learning, its audacity, its subtle dialectics, and its literary charm, there can be no question. It woos and delights even where it does not convince." Nevertheless the BULLETIN calls it in one place "an atheistic argument," while in another it says the author "finds God in all things."

The BOSTON BEACON says: "It would not be surprising if 'Calmire' attained a vogue comparable to that of 'Robert Elsmere.' . . . The fundamental situation, worked out with marked ingenuity, leads up to a simple, natural and effective climax."

The PHILADELPHIA PRESS says: "A really powerful story. . . . 'Calmire' and 'Muriel' are better types of the radical in religion than 'Robert Elsmere.'"

The PITTSBURG TELEGRAPH says that it is "evidently the work of a very subtle hand and brain."

The BOSTON HOME JOURNAL says: "Sure to attract very wide attention. . . . Remarkably able. . . . In no way a rehash of what we have had in the line of so-called modern thought on religious subjects in several well-known novels during the past few years, but is entirely distinct in theory and mode of treatment. No thoughtful person—and it was evidently written for none other—will begin it without becoming deeply interested, and in this condition following it to the end."

The DETROIT FREE PRESS says: "The plot in one aspect deals with a phase of life not usually found in the better class of works of fiction: but it is treated with such delicacy and to such good moral purpose that it furnishes its own excuse."

A NEW AND TIMELY HANDBOOK.A B C of the Swedish System of Educational Gymnastics.

By HARTVIG NISSEN, •

Instructor of Physical Training in the Public Schools of Boston, Mass.; Instructor of Swedish and German Gymnastics at Harvard University's Summer School, 1891.; Author of "A Manual on Swedish Movement and Massage Treatment," etc.

A Practical Handbook for School-Teachers and the Home.

This handy volume is everywhere spoken of as the best book on the subject now in the market. All dealers near schools where Physical Training is given should have it in stock.

The fullest instructions and commands are given for each exercise, and seventy-seven excellent engravings illustrate them and add greatly to the practical value of the book. Small 12mo, 143 pages, extra flexible cloth, 75 cents, net.

*A BOOK OF SURPASSING INTEREST ISTHE CHINESE:*Their Present and Future; Medical Political and Social.

By ROBERT COLTMAN, Jr., M.D.,

Surgeon in Charge of the Presbyterian Hospital and Dispensary at Teng Chow Fu.

The author has spent many years among the Chinese; lived with them in their dwellings; thoroughly learned the language; has become conversant with all their strange and odd characteristics to a greater extent than almost any other American. The simple, direct, straight-forward style in which Dr. Coltmán has written this book makes it entertaining and fascinating as well as profitable reading throughout.

The book is beautifully printed in large, clear type, and is illustrated with fifteen fine engravings from photographs of persons, places and objects characteristic of China. In one handsome royal octavo volume of 212 pages, appropriately bound in extra cloth, with Chinese side stamp, $1.75, net.

THE DAUGHTER:Her Health, Education and Wedlock.

HOMELY SUGGESTIONS TO MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS CONCERNING CHILDHOOD, MAIDENHOOD, WIFEHOOD AND MOTHERHOOD.

This valuable little volume belongs to a most important class of books, and it is everywhere recognized as one of the very best. Beautifully printed, large, clear type, 12mo, 150 pages, handsomely bound in extra cloth, $1.00, net.

"A clear, practical and wholesome volume of hygienic suggestions, without prudery on the one hand, and without technical or unnecessary professional minuteness on the other. The author's purpose is high, and his achievement helpful."—The Sunday-School Times.

CONSUMPTION!How to Prevent It and How to Live with It.

ITS NATURE, CAUSES, PREVENTION, AND THE MODE OF LIFE, CLIMATE, EXERCISE, FOOD AND CLOTHING, NECESSARY FOR ITS CURE.

By N. S. DAVIS, Jr., A.M., M.D.,

Professor of Principles and Practice of Medicine in Chicago Medical College, etc., etc.

A plain, practical treatise, thoroughly readable and scientifically accurate. 12mo, 143 pages, extra cloth, 75 cents, net.

THE ST. LOUIS WEEKLY MEDICAL REVIEW says: "He is very thorough in his discussion of the subject, and the practical hints which he gives are of real worth and value. His directions are given in such a manner as to make life enjoyable to a consumptive patient and not a burden, as is too frequently the case."
